APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Junior Class are examined in English Grammar, Modern Geography, History of the United States, Mental and Written Arithmetic, Algebra through Simple Equations, Harkness' Latin Grammar and Latin Reader. In order that the requisite mathematical discipline may be gained, it is desirable that there be a familiar acquaintance with two or three different authors in Arithmetic,—Greenleaf's National and Adams' are recommended, and in Mental Arithmetic, Colburn's First Lessons.

Candidates for admission to a higher standing are examined in these studies, and also in those that have been pursued by the class to which they desire admission.

These examinations will be so conducted as to make them an accurate test of scholarship, and they will be confined to the first three weeks after the opening of the school year. No one will be expected to remain longer than this, who does not prove herself well acquainted with the preparatory studies.

None will be admitted to the Junior Class under sixteen years of age, and none to the Senior under eighteen.

The only time for the admission of pupils is at the commencement of the fall term. The first three weeks of this term will be considered as probationary, that any who may be found to be particularly deficient in mental discipline or in maturity of character may not remain through the year to their own disadvantage and to the injury of others.

Pupils are received for one year, and it is expected (extraordinary circumstances excepted) that they will remain through the year. At the expiration of that time it can be decided whether the best interests of the pupil will be promoted by a longer connection with the Institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. If any are in advance of the first class, they can be examined in the studies they have pursued and take up the studies of the second year as they have time. The studies of the course will be taken in their order, and pupils will be advanced from class to class according to their progress and not according to the time spent in the Institution.

FAMILY ACCOMMODATIONS.

All the teachers and pupils board in the Institution. The family and school are so organized that they form constituent parts of the same whole, each advancing the interests of the other, and both uniting to promote the improvement, comfort and happiness of the household. Everything relative to the improvement and division of time, to giving and receiving instruction, and to social intercourse, partakes more of the simplicity of the family circle, than of the common restrictive rules of the school system.

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

All the members of the school aid to some extent in the domestic work of the family. The portion of time thus occupied is so small that it does not retard their progress in study, but rather facilitates by its invigorating influence. But it is no part of the design of this Seminary to teach young ladies domestic work. This branch of education is exceedingly important, but a literary institution is not the place to gain it. Home is the proper place for the daughters of our country to be taught on this subject, and the mother is the appropriate teacher. Some may inquire "What then can be the design of this arrangement?" It may be replied, that the family work must be performed—that it is difficult to find hired domestics, and to retain them any considerable time when they are found—and that young ladies engaged in study suffer much in their vigor and intellectual energy, and in their future health, for want of exercise. This feature of the Institution will not relieve mothers from the responsibility of giving their daughters a thorough domestic education; but it will rather throw before those who are seeking for them the privileges of this Seminary, additional motives to be faithful in this important duty.

PUNCTUALITY, STUDY HOURS AND RECREATION.

Perfect punctuality throughout the year, is the standard presented to every pupil on entering the Seminary. Without a high standard of punctuality, it is impossible to maintain a high standard for study and correct scholarship. The loss of a single lesson, or the study hours of an evening, may be felt for many weeks. One imperfect lesson often discourages a pupil, and produces a succession of similar lessons; one absence prepares the way for another, and a deficiency of promptness in one scholar will have its influence on others. It is very important that the regular study hours should be uninterrupted. Calls and visits made by young ladies, are confined to recreation hours, and to the regular recreation day. Their friends in the vicinity are requested, as far as practicable, to make their calls during these hours. Wednesday is the regular day of recreation. The evening of the day is not recreation time.

Friends of the Institution and strangers from abroad may feel at liberty to call on the teachers any day or hour most convenient for them, the Sabbath excepted.

SABBATH.

The young ladies do not make or receive calls on the Sabbath; neither should they spend a single Sabbath from the Seminary during term time. This institution is the result of benevolent efforts, and that it will be decidedly religious in its influence, is the reasonable expectation of its friends. In using the appropriate means of giving to the Institution such an influence, the Sabbath is far the most important day. While absence on any other day is greatly to be regretted, it is far more so on the Sabbath. However great may be its privileges in any other spot, the excitement of visiting, of meeting friends, and of home scenes, will prevent in a great measure the benefit that may be derived from a proper observance of the day. The place of weekly labors is the most favorable spot for the scenes of the Sabbath.

EXPENSES.

Board and tuition, exclusive of fuel and lights, are $150 for the school year of forty weeks; $75.00 to be paid on entrance, and $75.00 at the commencement of the second term. No deduction is made for a short absence. In case of protracted absence, the charge is made by the week, and is higher in proportion, at the rate of $180 a year.

It is important that the Term Bills be paid promptly. Much inconvenience is caused by delinquency in this respect.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The year is divided into three terms. The first term of the ensuing year will be ten weeks in length, the second term sixteen weeks, and the third, fourteen.

FALL TERM commences	Thursday, Sept. 17, 1868.

ANNIVERSARY AND PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS.

The Public Examinations at the close of the present year will commence Tuesday A. M., July 21.

The Anniversary Exercises will be Thursday, July 23, commencing at 11 o'clock. A. M. The Annual Address will be delivered by Rev. V. D. Reed, D. D., of Camden, N. J.

APPLICATIONS.

Communications relating to admission to the Seminary may be addressed to the Principal. The name, age, attainments and general characteristics of the applicant should be stated.

TO ACCEPTED CANDIDATES FOR THE ENSUING YEAR.

If circumstances render your attendance doubtful, you are requested to communicate immediately the degree of uncertainty.

Be careful to be present the first day (September 17.) All should come on Wednesday, that they may be in readiness to commence their examinations Thursday morning.

You are expected to furnish your own towels, napkins, and napkin ring, one pair of sheets and pillow cases, and one blanket; also a table or dessert spoon and a tea spoon. Each of these and all articles of clothing should be distinctly marked with the owner's name.

Provide suitable clothing for the season and climate, such as flannels, woolen hose, thick shoes, overshoes, and an umbrella, also a dress suitable for Gymnastic exercise.

It is desirable that as far as practicable you be supplied with an English Dictionary, a Latin Lexicon, an Ancient and a Modern Atlas, the Sabbath Hymn and Tune Book, and books of reference for the study of the Bible, such as Commentary, Bible Dictionary, Nevin's Biblical Antiquities, and Coleman's Historical Geography of the Bible.

You are also requested to bring with you any of the regular text books in your possession, historical works, books containing selections for improvement in reading, standard poetical works, and standard musical works.

Books and Stationery can be purchased at the Seminary on reasonable terms.

In communications by writing there is liability to mistakes between inquiries about the admission of pupils, and decided applicants. During the month of June a copy of this Catalogue will be forwarded to each accepted candidate for the ensuing year, with this paragraph marked. If there is a mistake about the application of any to whom it is thus forwarded, or if any fail to receive the Catalogue who suppose themselves accepted, information should be communicated immediately.

MEMORANDUM SOCIETY.

Communications relating to the Memorandum Society may be addressed to the Secretary. Members are particularly requested to report any changes in name or residence, or any failure to receive the Annual Catalogue or the last Memorandum Catalogue, promptly; also, any facts in regard to other members of the Society or any former pupils of the Institution.
